Huber Breeze

Pulley

Stare at you and I can't believe a song inside your head
Words to remember
Where to begin, when will you find them?
Covered up those memories that run inside you head, the sound isn't better
Do you remember I will walk away from a disease, that's full of love and hate?
Time to time I write these rhymes, it takes me to a better place
Stop trying, never try again
Voices and melody the struggle starts within
Where will it take you, when will it end?
It always seems to cover up those memories that run inside your head
The sound isn't better, do you remember?
