"I Don't Fit in"

July 2003

You really think that you know me it's just a memory in your mind
I've cared about too many things
Had my fill of your kind

You think your righteous and your dark as night
You could have everything then its gone
Just keep on thinking the way you've been You'll find your answers when you're wrong

I'm too unique to be here for you your group isn't right for me
I can tolerate it just so long
I Can't ignore what I see

I might leave right before your eyes
I've been known to do that sort of thing
You may find yourself looking for me
You won't know what you missed until I'm gone

I'm just the first of many to come
Youve lost your edge on the crowd
It will follow you through your life
You've earned your evil shroud
