The tip of my nose tingles
Whenever I'm next to you
My eyes close and I get languid Feels like I will fall asleep

Should I softly hug you?
Filled with the scent of jasmines
I hear my heart pounding
Maybe you and I have dreamed of this time

I will open the secret door
that I only I know and invite you
For you, who has opened my closed heart
Only you know my garden
Whisper the secret confessions
that only we know
Our stories that no one else will know
When the door opens, love will start in this place

Should we walk as we hold hands?
Filled with the scent of jasmines
You come to my shy face
And your lips sweetly touch my cheek

I will open the secret door
that I only I know and invite you
For you, who has opened my closed heart

Only you know my garden
Whisper the secret confessions
that only we know
Our stories that no one else will know
When the door opens, love will start in this place

Sometimes, I get nervous
But I want to believe you like I am now
Be with me by my side forever in this place, my love

I will open the secret door
that I only I know and invite you

For you, who has opened my closed heart
Only you know my garden
Whisper the secret confessions
that only we know
Our stories that no one else will know
When the door opens, love will start in this place

This moment, with the dazzling day
