Reflections

Crossbreed

I can't remember when
I can't remember when I can't remember when the sun has hit my face
I can't remember when
I can't remember when I can't remember when the sun has hit my faceall cut up and bleeding unjust fully to never ever return crumbled up and unfolding just to see, to see to see the sun break
sliding down and slipping into the walls of reflections just for you i try to, i try to make you see, to see, to see reflectionsi can't remember when
i can't remember when i can't remember when the sun has hit my faceillusion's wondering above although stains appear one dose will start to make you feel, to feel, to feel the ground break
sliding down and slipping into the walls of reflections
just for you
i try to, i try to make you see, to see, to see reflections
i can't remember when
i can't remember when i can't remember when the sun has hit my faceface flat and lying in the streets i'm beat and still bleeding my reflections, they show, they show, they show
the sun break
sliding down and slipping into the walls of reflections
just for you
i try to, i try to make you see, to see, to see reflections
i can't remember when
i can't remember when
i can't remember when the sun has hit my face
i can't remember when
i can't remember when
i can't remember when the sun has hit my face
i can't remember when
i can't remember when
i can't remember when the sun has hit my face
i can't remember when
i can't remember when

i can't remember when the sun has hit my face
i've seen reflections
i've seen reflections
i've seen reflections
and they're down upon my face
i've seen reflections
i've seen reflections
i've seen reflections
and they're down upon my face

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/