Pigs Is Pigs

Casey Jones

Every day old things change, nothing ever stays the same. Everyday, everyday something fades. It's funny how things can change, nothing is for certain. Tomorrow is a gamble. Like the man on the street, all you have is yourself. People change, friendships fade. Roll the dice for this game called life. People change, friendships fade time for your best poker face. In the end believe in yourself, you're all that you have.
