

We Must Have Been Out of Our Minds

George Jones & Melba Montgomery

(Written by Melba Montgomery)

George Jones & Melba Montgomery We said our goodbyes long ago,
Never thinking we'd miss each other so,
All the memories we can't leave behind,

Oh, we must have been out of our minds. I thought I loved another, not you,
How foolish, I thought the same, too,
They both turned out to be the wrong kind,
Oh, we (must have been out of our minds.

--- Instrumental --- Let's forgive and forget the past we've known,
And reap together the wild seeds we've sown,
Surely they can forgive us and find,
That we must have been out of our minds.

I thought I loved another, not you,
How foolish, I thought the same, too,
They both turned out to be the wrong kind,

Oh, we must have been out of our minds. Yes, we must have been out of our minds.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>