Why

Rose Cora Perry

Why do we pretend to understand even when we canâ€™t hear the words ?
Why do we try to heal wounds through revenge instead of crying out our tears ?
Why do we fear the unknown and persecute the misunderstood ?
Why do our words fail to come when we try to speak our minds ?

I try but Iâ€™m afraid
So many questions without answers
I try to run away
And I climb up to the sky and search deep within my heart
Yet the answer I know is right before my eyes

Why? Just Because Why?

Why are we so afraid to die, but never even try to live ?
And why does it always seem that the bad wins over the good ?
Why canâ€™t we get satisfaction? We always focus on the negative
Why canâ€™t we solve things through peace? Cause weâ€™re scared of silence

I try but Iâ€™m afraid
So many questions without answers
I try to run away
And I climb up to the sky and search deep within my heart
Yet the answer I know is right before my eyes

Why? Just Because Why?

Why are the rich and beautiful in power?
Why do we raise ourselves by lowering others?
Why do we never find value in simple things?
And why is 16 so sweet?

Why do we never follow our gut instincts? We let others decide our fate
Why is it that when you are rushing? Itâ€™s when youâ€™re always late
Why when we look into oneâ€™s eyes we want to kiss them ?
Why do we say maybe every time we really mean yes ?

Why? Just Because Why?
