Nightingale

God Street Wine

Hey young girl staring at me
Smiling so mysteriously
Your eyes so shiny and your lips so red
Do you know this tune playing in my head

Hey Cordelia don't you frown Though your daddy went crazy and your house burned down
I'm gonna make everything alright
I'm singing just for you tonight

I got a tune running through my head and it won't go away
Singing to me softly, singing to me day after day
And I want you darling, and I don't want nobody but you
We can jam in the daylight, we can jam the whole night through

'Cause I need someone to turn me on Someone to wake beside at dawn
Someone to sing my song
And be my Nightingale.
Someone to kiss beneath the moon
And sleep with in the afternoon
Someone to sing my tune
And be my Nightingale.

Your face so fine and your body so shy England in the rain is no place to be Go find your lover out across the sea
Girl do you hear the music playing
Do you understand what the singer is saying
And these visions that we both have seen Baby can you tell me just what they mean?

I got a tune running through my head that I want you to hear Play it for you darling, for your sisters and the good King Lear

And I been dreaming of a day when the sun will shine again Shine on through your lightning, shine on through your thunder and rain
'Cause I need someone to turn me on

So won't you listen to the band
And won't you try to understand
And won't you let me be your fool
And hold you by the hand
And sing until I see that you are smiling...
