The Break

Champion

It's going to break and I can see it in your eyes
All the choices made
You won't be looking back this time
Tell me what's left to say when it falls apart?
Just look at where we're coming from
And how it's going to endWhere do we turn, when there's nothing left but regret and We seem miles apart?We tried to make it last, do you remember that?
Will you be looking back this time?
Tell me, what can we say to try and bridge the gap?
Just look at where we're coming from
Does it really have to end?Where do we turn, when there's nothing left but regret and We seem miles apart?Can't we change the past, and even after all the efforts made
We still seem to go our separate ways
But how did it ever come to this
And can we try to make a change?We need to give this all our effort
Let's try to never let each other slip away
Because this is all we have

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/