ESO

Now I can see, changes are there in subtle ways, affecting defective leading the lost children astray. Don't you hold out on me, there's so little left that seems worth fighting for, don't you be doubting me, one step from the edgeWe're all built the same, just birds in a hurricane and know that I won't lay down until they carry me outStep in, fall out, say too much I need to watch my mouth, defensive offensive just tell me well who'll remember thisDon't you hold out on me, there's so little left that seems worth fighting for, don't you be doubting me, one step from the edge...We're all built the same, just birds in a hurricane and know that I won't lay down until they carry me outGot to raise your head up (to see it)
Gotta throw your arms up (to feel it)
Gotta spread your fingers and smile at the endWe're all built the same, just birds in a hurricane and know that I won't lay down until they carry me outI'm not built the same was made for this hurricane and know that I won't lay down they'll have to carry me out
