

Let Go

Caliban

Your eyes When I remember the past sad gray days
When I surrender, I will never smile again Look in my eyes, a killing glance
Love can hurt and that is no secret
But how much pain can I forget? Everything, everything, you let go
And everything, everything, brings liberation
Everything, everything, we let go
And everything, everything, leads to salvation The time we split, I felt this anger
You were my blaze but pulled my anchor
Every cloud has a silver lining
And that's blessing in disguise Everything, everything, you let go
And everything, everything, brings liberation
Everything, everything, we let go
And everything, everything, leads to salvation Salvation When I remember the past sad gray days
The cold September, when you said, goodbye Look in my eyes, a killing glance
But every end is a new beginning
I'm looking forward to rise from the dust Everything, everything, you let go
And everything, everything, brings liberation
Everything, everything, we let go
And everything, everything, leads to salvation
