

Days to Come

Dan Fogelberg

Tell me true do you still believe the prophets
That you found among the clouds of youthful skies
Broken dreams line your face like stormy weather
But you can't stay dry forever in the rainThe truth should now be plain
You can't go back againLiving through what you used to call romantic
Now your voice betrays the panic in your eyes
Love at last but you still can't seem to buy it
Now you're caught between the quiet and the criesOh, tears and hopeful lies
Make a sad disguiseAll your life you've been chasing some uncertain
Now you find yourself deserting all you know
Though it feels like this chill won't leave you ever
You know you can't stay cold forever in the sunOh, raise your head and run, run, run
Through the Days To Come

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>