Tears

Trubz

Chasing the feelin', he's running away
Dancing with her every single day
Consuming my mind like blood on a vine
Addiction stole another soul in vein
We say oh oh oh oh
A tear Fallen
Yea, it's ten o'clock on a Wednesday
About ten degrees it was cold outside
Stains on his sneaks blood on his sleeves he just got owned outside
His buddies beat his ass for the cash that he owed 'em
It was never paid in time
It was only ten grand so he didn't understand why the can't let him have more time
So they gave him till midnight being nice to come up with only half of the price
But half of that was half of his life
He'd been injected and a stash and a white
With his cash down the drain and being left by his kids and wife
Guess what daddy did, daddy overdosed with his stash and pipe
Say goodbye and goodnight
With my eyes closed, I see you walking out the do'
For the last time
It was hard to believe there was nothing I could say
Ought' to
I had to set and watch you fade
Too grey, we say, oh oh oh oh
A tear fallen oh oh oh oh
Uh so what's the point to all these needles pills and drugs
That make you forget about all of the people you knew you care about and you love
It just fills you deep with blackness that the light shines from above
You need to quit with all of those habits
And catch on like wearing a glove
The ruining light that's been handed to ya
'Cause you only get handed it once
Pills, turn you into a zombie and your mommy won't get what she wants
She was a baby to grow up and old gotta be buried on cross grounds
The needle can take your whole life away and control how you live so who is the boss now
Oh oh oh oh a tear fallen oh oh oh oh
Oh oh oh oh a tear fallen oh oh oh oh keep on falling (falling)
