Second Class

so i hear that you've been asking your friends about me hoping they'll tell you i am bitter now well don't flatter yourself cause you were never worth it and i just want to know do you find i hard to sleep at night does it make you pull your hair wondering if you were wrong or right knowing i don't fucking care just the other day i saw you at the mall with your new boyfriend he didn't look like much to me you didn't look to happy hanging on to his arm like some little girl do you find i hard to sleep at night does it make you pull your hair wondering if you were wrong or right knowing i don't fucking care so i've learned not to dwell on yesterday so i've learned no to dwell on yesterday now you find it hard to sleep at night and you pull out all your hair knowing you were wrong and i was right and i still don't fucking care
