Reflections

Mae

Tonight I dreamt we found a fair of wonders
Where the future and the past could not contain
We were greeted by a spell that took us under
And laid down in a field there ever was
To me and you this dream we share
I believed a perfect pair
Oh, but I was wrong
This fair comes with a price
Because tonight I'll wake up twice
And, both times find you gone
Reflection
Is all we have that when it's over
Reflections
Of the path that sends us searching
Over and over again
Too quick to fall asleep again to find you
I'm rushing through a dream I can't control
This house of mirrors beckons us to walk through
But instead again I'll have to let you go
Stuck here in this stare
Revealed beyond the glare
Again you're gone
So throw a stone through these reflections
Scatter light in all directions
And sing this song

Reflection
Is all we have and when it's over
Reflections
Of the path that sends us searching
Over and over again
(Over and over over and over over and over over and over)
When does this physical
Meet with the spiritual
Is this the typical question?
But doubted of the up above
It looks the same
So I'm not so sure of anything
Where we'll have come from again

Reflection
Is all we have
And when it's over
Reflections
Of the path that sends us searching
Reflection
Is all we have
And when it's over
Redirection
Is the path that sends us searching
