

A Little Stronger Everyday

Michael W. Smith

I was throwin' away what I needed most
It was the Father, Son and the Holy Ghost
A little carnal knowledge is a dangerous thing
It'll eat a hole in the brain I'd be the biggest fool in the whole universe
To trade a Heavenly blessing for a worldly curse
I was a weaker man 'til I made my stand
And now I am here to make a change I'm running blind on the wheels of faith
I'm moving to the beat of a heart that prays
And hangin' on every word You said
I get a little stronger everyday Ain't gonna find any help on the TV
Or written down on the pages of the People Magazine
It takes digging a little deeper into the good book now
For a little sacred advice, oh yeah I'm running blind on the wheels of faith
I'm moving to the beat of a heart that prays
And hangin' on every word You said
I get a little stronger everyday I'm running blind on the wheels of faith
I'm moving to the beat of a heart that prays
And hangin' on every word You said
I get a little stronger everyday Gettin' strong, a stronger now, everyday
I'm gettin' strong, a stronger now, everyday
I'm getting stronger I'm running blind on the wheels of faith
I'm moving to the beat of a heart that prays
And hangin' on every word You said
I get a little stronger everyday I'm running blind on the wheels of faith
I'm moving to the beat of a heart that prays
And hangin' on every word You said
I get a little stronger everyday I'm running blind on the wheels of faith
I'm moving to the beat of a heart that prays
And hangin' on every word You said
I get a little stronger everyday And hangin' on every word You said
I get a little stronger everyday
And hangin' on every word You said
I get a little stronger everyday A little stronger everyday
A little stronger everyday
Stronger everyday
Stronger everyday
