

Nobody's Home

King Tut

She can talk for hours words don't cover the scars
She thinks she's crazy but they've just pushed her too far
 She runs to the mirror only savior she's known
 Another slap on her face 'cause nobody's home
Mother's always working, slinging beer on the side
 Her dad's watching TV and he's still getting high
 She knows he'll be waiting, tryin' to get her alone
 She hangs out on the corner 'cause nobody's home
 All she ever wanted was a place on this earth
 She shouts for a savior for anyone to hear her
 All she ever needed was hope in a world
In a world where she feels all alone 'cause nobody's home
 She cries for attention, hanging on by a thread
 She can't stop the screaming going on in her head
 Tears on the pillow, these are things she won't miss
 Nothing to believe in so it comes down to this
 Blood on the mirror, temptation is bliss
 Pills on the table, she just couldn't resist
 Now nobody's home
All she ever wanted was a place on this earth
 She shouts for a savior for anyone to hear her
 All she ever needed was hope in a world
In a world where she feels all alone 'cause nobody's home

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>