Another Time

Edguy

The rain outside reminds me of your voice
Like everything I hear since you're not there
And distance doesn't leave me any choice
Than to meet you in a dream we still can share
In my dream I see your smile
But when I open up my eyes
I can't see anyone
Now that you have gone away
I wonder if we'll reach the day
That you will realize that we belongI can't take it for granted
I remember your smile
I can't take it for granted
Cause I know that our life is in line
For another day or life in another time
In another time, in another timeThe pressure and the fear it made you blind
You thought you have to give some burden away
But are you really sure if it's required?
Don't you want to find out another day?In my dream I see your smile
But when I open up my eyes
I can't see anyone
Now that you have gone away
I wonder if we'll reach the day
That you will realize that we belongI can't take it for granted
I remember your smile
I can't take it for granted
Cause I know that our life is in line
For another day or life in another time
In another time, in another timeI can't take it for granted, I can't take it
I remember your smile, I remember
I can't take it for granted, I can't take it
Cause I know that our life is in line
For another day or life in another time
In another time, in another time
