Don't Ask Me Why

Night Ranger

Looking down the road where I've been
Can anything last forever?
Still I take my chances looking for the answers
I need somebody, oh, I think I'm falling for love
And the morning here it comes
And I'm lying next to you
Don't ask me why
Don't ask me why
I told you once before that I don't know
Don't ask me why
Don't ask me why
I told you once before that I don't know
What is this road we call life?
Can you tell it to a dreamer?
Maybe there's a reason, you and me together
I need somebody strong, I think I'm falling apart
And I'm too tired to pretend
Can I see you once again?
Don't ask me why
Don't ask me why
I told you once before that I don't know

Don't ask me why
Don't ask me why
I told you once before that I don't know
Maybe I should stay up for a while
(Maybe I, maybe I)
Paint a picture, Wan Gogh with a smile
(Maybe I, maybe I)
And you could play with this puzzle
Don't ask me why
Don't ask me why
I told you once before that I don't know
Don't ask me why
Don't ask me why
I told you once before that I don't know
Don't ask me why
Don't ask me why
I told you once before that I don't know

Oh, oh, oh, oh
I told you once before that I don't know
