

My First Love

Joe Exotic

Drunk and lonely sitting by the phone. No one to call and no one to hold. Should I write a letter? Should I take the chance? Last one I wrote to you, you tore it up so fast. You were my first love, the one thats gonna last. A Million miles later Im a ghost from the past. You were my true love the one thats suppose to last. A million miles later still stranded in the past. I could grow a garden 18 miles high, give you all the roses so you could watch them die. I could buy a diamond brighter than the sky, put iton your finger and you could wave goodbye. You were my first love the one thats gonna last. A million miles later Im a ghost from the past. You Were my true love the one thats suppose to last. A millionmiles later still stranded in the past. You could curse the darkness,blow out the lights. I could build an alter, light candles in the night. You could give me poison. Romeo and Juliet. I could be a good man but someday I will forget. You were my first love the one thats gonna last. A million miles later Im a ghost from the past. You were my true love the one thats suppose to last. A million miles later still stranded in the past. You were my first love the one thats gonna last. A million miles later Im a ghost from the past. You Were my true love the one thats suppose to last. A million miles later still stranded in the past.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>