

Strangers (feat. Aoife O'donovan)

Jesse Harper

When I passed you on the street,
You kept on looking at your feet,
Seems like every time we meet,
You think we're strangers.

I recall a time before,
When you would kiss me at the door,
But we got trapped in such a cold, cold world,
And now we're strangers.
We're not strangers.

Let me introduce myself, again, again,
Oh I'd rather tell the news myself,
Than reduce my self, oh
To just some stranger,
Cause we're not strangers

You and me, oh we fell to the fire,
and we knew the dangers,
There might not be much left,
Still we're anything but strangers,

I never guessed that when we met,
I'd do so much that I'd regret,
Still I never will forget,
That were not strangers,
Cause we're not strangers,

Let me introduce myself again, again,
Oh I'd rather tell the news myself,
Than reduce myself,
To just some stranger,
Cause we're not strangers,

You and me, we fell to the fire,
And we knew the dangers,
There might not be much left,
Still we're anything but strangers,
We're not strangers.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>