Hell And Back

Sen Dog

Hi, this is what I got outta the song...some words may be slightly wrong but think pretty close.
theres nowhere else i can run to, shes wretched but she comforts me,and after everyone goes home,shes always there for me.
and when the sun goes hellbound, and the moon does reserect the night, I well hide within her, not much good has come out of the light.
after everyone goes home and im left here on my own, I will run straight to hell and back. straight to hell and back.
When they turn out all there lights, and im left to brud at nights..always return to hell and back.
straight to hell and back...straight down...yeah..
A lonely light in a window, just longing for some company, tragic and heartless and hatefull but theres nothin as willing as she, and when the night has fallin, it falls hard and then it all begins, when she starts her calling I feel my darkness growing from within. After everyone goes home and im left here on my own I will run straight to hell and back.

straight to hell and back. when they turn out all there lights, and im left to brud at night. always return to hell and back.
Straight to hell and back. Straight to hell and back, I will run straight to hell and back.
Ive become two. we've become one, unbridled unequalled unholly undone.
The path is cut deep the path is gone well, Ill follow my foot steps to the walk of hell. the walk of hell.
yeah!! ohh yeah!!
after everyone goes home and im left here on my own I will run straight to hell and back, straight to hell and back, straight to hell and back, when they turn out all there lights and im left to brud at night always return to hell and back, return to hell and back, straight to hell and back, straight to hell and back, I will run straight to hell and back.. straight down.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/