False Alarms

Steve Moakler

Far across this red horizon
I am walking down the line
I am picking up the pieces
That this storm has left behind

After all the clouds have fallen
I would breach the battle ground
Turn your darkness into the light
Turn your silence into sound

But I canâ€™t cage you in my arms
When my heart is jumping forward
To avoid your false alarms

And you canâ€™t tell me not to stay
When I opened up the window
And I watched you fly away

Have you raised the final anchor?
Have you cut the mast-sail free?
Sending offer to redemption
Like a funeral at sea

I will always hear you calling
Youâ€™re the sway of falling leaves
Like a bird youâ€™ll spiral onward
And youâ€™ll know just where Iâ€™ll be

And I canâ€™t cage you in my arms
When my heart is jumping forward
To avoid your false alarms

And you canâ€™t tell me not to stay
When I opened up the window
And I watched you fly away

And I canâ€™t cage you in my arms
When my heart is jumping forward
To avoid your false alarms

And you canâ€™t tell me not to stay
When I opened up the window
And I watched you fly away

And I am closing up my window
â€˜Till I see a blue horizon
And the quiet call of love will fly my way
