

Moondust

Ash

I trust the ground beneath my feet never doubt the air I breathe do not question things unseen as I fall on my routine but as the evening falls and the shadows come to walls I feel the pulling of the tide gazes drawn into the night when you come home
will you stay for good
won't you come home safe
and will you bring me back some moondust
will you bring me some moondust we're spinning in the dark as we drift further apart can I navigate your heart? with the guidance of the stars will you return transformed untroubled by storms do our conflicts seem so small once you've flown(?) above it all
will you bring me back
will you bring me some moondust
