Only the Rain

Blue Healer

I was drunk, dreaming of the bay
Of the day that she would do me wrong,
And I woke up feeling strange, something heavy on my brain.
It was only the rain coming down.

So I asked her to meet me for a drink,
And I sat there staring at the door.
She came in at such speed, thought she was running just for me,
It was only the rain coming down.

Now I thought I'll tell her about my dream.
She stood there as silent as a ghost.
When I told her that I drowned, that's when she looked around,
Said it's only the rain coming down.

I was standing with lightning in her face
Shaking from the thunder in her ears.
It looked like tears were in her eyes, but I know she never cries
It was only the rain coming down.

So I left the clouds in my head
Walking under rivers in the sky
You can let that water fall, it won't bother me at all,
Cause it's only the rain coming down
You can let that water fall, it won't fuck with me at all,
Cause it's only the rain coming down.
It's only the rain coming down.
It's only the rain coming down.
It's only the rain coming down.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/