

The Road You Didn't Take

Stornoway

Sleep up on the mountain, for a night to shiver under skies That blaze cool as the cat's eyes, on the road you didn't take
On the road you didn't take
On the road, on the road
On the road you didn't take,
the road you didn't take Get high up on the mountain, feel your lungs start burning as you rise Sometimes when you get to the summit, you will see another hill to climb
But sometimes all you can see, when you look down the other side
Is the road you didn't take, the road you didn't take
Is the road you didn't take, the road you didn't take So move, move out to somewhere, you can roll on the breakers at night And sleep windows wide open, let the waves come drown out the sound Of the road you didn't take, the road you didn't take
And sometime when you get to the summit,
you will see another hill to climb
Far from the road you didn't take, the road you didn't take
From the road you didn't take, the road you didn't take
From the road you didn't take, the road you didn't take
