

This Time (feat. Novika) [Gorge Remix]

Lovebirds

just one word
just one word
it could crush me
could crush me to pieces and now I feel more than alive hopes&fears take too much time ,you must realize , this part of main size this silly game with a hopeless end , while the other part just can't restrain it's been too long just getting close to something real that can change my state of being lost&sad , almost every night, to dive in dreams was the only way

just one word
just one word
it could crush me

ups&downs can strain my mind , when it takes a while to believe in what I am feeling safe&sound when you are around , like a magic force , that can set me free it's been too long just getting close to something true that can never be compared to what I've known and felt before , let's let it pass , like a new born child
