Drown

Dokken

I been left in the crossfire, sacrificed to love and hate
Out of ammunition to regain my mental state
I found myself adrift upon an endless sea
Of lies and bitterness, horizon out of reachI see the starts that shine, reflection in the waves
I need to find that distant shoreBefore I drown, slip beneath the waves and drown
Takes me to my grave of love and heartache
There's got to be a way, that I can save myself before I drownToo much conversation can erode our little minds
My emancipation comes with solitude at night
As the world sleeps, I contemplate all that's been done
I profess no innocence, I've held, held that smoking gunI found myself atop a sea of ocean blue
Cast from a world that left me tooTo drown, slip beneath the waves and drown
Takes me to my grave of love and heartache
There's got to be a way, that I can save myself before I drownSave myself, I can save myselfI'll drown, slip beneath the waves and drown
Takes me to my grave and drown
From the pouring rain of love and heartache
There's got to be a way, I can save myselfSave myself before I drown
I gotta save, save myself, save myself

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/