

Kick It

Gene Krupa, Anita O'Day

I'll stay with you one more night, I'll bid you no goodbyes
Not until tomorrow's light, then I'll say goodnight
Well, I would really rather die than make you stop
I think that is the meaning of love I think that is the meaning of love
And I prefer to kick it
Yes, I think that is the meaning of love
And I prefer to kick it, kick the habit Well, I'm waited for in Egypt
It's just something I must do
Yes, I can see you're waited for all over you
All day and all night, all over the world, it's your world I think that is the meaning of love
And I'm prepared to kick it
Yes, I think that is the meaning of love
And I prefer to kick it So what is this, when you can
What is this, what about me
What is this, I understand
What is this I'm lonely, I'm lonely Yes, it's a strange kind of love affair, a symphony of sorts
Strange kind of love affair, a declaration of war
No I won't be here tomorrow night, you won't see me smiling
Tomorrow when it's very dark no crying I think that is the meaning of love
And I prefer to kick it
Yes, I think that is the meaning of love
Surrender Well, I think that is the meaning of love
And I prefer to kick it
Yes, I think that is the meaning of love
But I prefer to kick it Well, I loved you more than life itself
(Nothing like forever more)
But I'm prepared to kick it
(Something like dying) Yes, I loved you more than life itself
But I'm prepared to kick it
I think that is the meaning of love
And I prefer to kick it
