Fire In Your Skin

Lethal

Twisting and turning
Your face to the wall
Your future was soaring
The landing was hardYour conscience would take no resistance
You found a way out
The threshold of freedom was calling
Can I pull you out?I found out you've fallen
In the shadows
The morning will find you
In your sorrowGuarding your space for surveillance
When changes come fast
But calls of the night are contagious
And easy to graspI found out you've fallen
In the shadows
The morning will find you
In your sorrow
And I know how it feels, yeahDo you remember
Fire in your skin?
You tried to dismember
With the cold of DecemberWhen I looked into your eyes
I saw fear in your stare
Oh, your body was standing before me
But your soul was not there, nowStealing the rain from your thunder
You wear the disguise
I knew all along you were trying
To taste your own bloodCircles are closing around you
Forming your shield
Statues of friends fall behind you
How long will you stand?I found out you've fallen
In the shadows
The morning will find you
In your sorrow
And I know how it feels, yeah
