Children's Day At the Morgue

Sheldon Allman

Open the doors and let all the little ones in
Don't make them wait
It's a happy time they're after
Today is children's day at the morgue

Look at the smiles and Red rosy cheeks here they come
Right through the gate
Hear the sound of joyous laughter
Today is children's day at the morgue

I love to see them at play but it moves me to tears
Have to be sure that they don't take away souvenirs
The little dears

There will be ice cream
Candy and cake and balloons
Don't you be late
Come along and bring the family
Today is children's day at the morgue

I love to see them at play but it moves me to tears
Have to be sure that they don't take away souvenirs
The little dears

There will be ice cream
Candy and cake and balloons
Don't you be late
Come along and bring the family
Today is children's day- I say it's children's day
Hooray it's children's day at the morgue

Ah when I hear those tender songs of childhood
I get all choked up
What a time we had on the last children's day
It was a picnic
