

Break Through

Manufactured Soul

Why is it so hard? It was so long ago
I don't know where to start or what to say to you
I've been all alone needing you by my side
But it's not too late, maybe we just needed time
Can we try to let it go? If we don't then we'll never know
I try to break through but you know that it's up to you
We say that time is meant to heal but it still hurts inside
I wish that none of this was real 'cause we're so far behind
You've been all alone needing me by your side
But it's not too late, maybe we just needed time
Can we try to let it go? If we don't then we'll never know
I try to break through but you know that it's up to you
And I know that our love can grow but this damn river needs to flow
I will try to break through but you know that it's up to you
It's time to make a stand, maybe it won't last
But we should take the chance
Can we try to let it go? If we don't then we'll never know
I try to break through but you know that it's up to you
I know that our love can grow, well this damn river needs to flow
I will try to break through but you know that it's up to you
I'll try to break through but you know that it's up to you
I'll try to break through but you know that it's up to you
I'll try to break through but you know that it's up to you

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>