

Bought and Sold

Butch Phelps and the Buck Ups

Lost love, you're the one that lies in my arms
You're the one that stole all my charms, I let you inMisery, you took everything young from me
Burned it down right in front of me
My blood runs coldNobody said that love was gonna be kind
But they did say it was measurable as it was divineLost love, you're the one that lies in my arms
You're the one that stole all my charms
I'm bought and soldNobody said that love was gonna be kind
But they did say it was pleasurable as it was divineWish I could leave it behind, lost love
