

Who

David Byrne & St. Vincent

Who'll be my valentine?
Who'll lift this heavy load?
Who'll share this taxi cab?
Who wants to climb aboard? Who is an honest man?
Who is an honest man? Who'll help a tired soldier Far from his own hometown,
carry these men and women
who get lost when the sun goes down? Who is an honest man?
Who is an honest man? Who walks this dusty road?
Who always pulls their weight?
Who's this?!
Inside of me?
Who made a big mistake?
Whose sees these constellations?
See them go spinning round?
Carry these men and women
who get lost when the sun goes down? Who is an honest man?
Who is an honest man? With a graceful motion she sat down slowly
Drank a cup of coffee and she'd fold her laundry
She begins to tell us all her life story
All around the table everybody's staring Who shouts out hallelujah?
Who's gonna sing out loud?
Carry these men and women who gets lost when the sun goes down? Whos getting out of here?
Who thinks they're wide awake?
Whos gonna be my friend
All around the table, everybody's staring.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>