And it's strange
How were wasting our lives
Novocaine
When the pain helps us rise here we stayThough it's only a clever game
Running from our lives and we linger on
But if we try to lift up our eyes
Replacing the lies, we own this momentEverything and everyone
And in the end we all are one
Truth will not be deniedAnd it's strange
How were selling our time
And we waitWe are lost in a clever game
Running from our lives and they lead us on
But if we try to lift up our eyes
Replacing the lies, we own this momentEverything and everyone
And in the end we all are one
Truth will not be denied
