The Magician

Jason Isbell

You watch every move
And call it slide of hand
You know, it's what I do
But never who I am, never who I amStarted on the street
With cards and dollar bills
Shuffling my feet
But never could be still, never could be stillAnd I am an orphan man but ain't we all?
I can make myself disappear
I am an orphan man but ain't we all?
And I know somewhere worse than hereI had a bride, I sawed her in half
Couple people cried
Most of them just laughed
Most of them just laughedWell, I had a son
Strong of hand and will
I taught him how to run
But never how to steal, never how to stealAnd I am an orphan man but ain't we all?
And I can make myself reappear
I am an orphan man but ain't we all?
And I could be somewhere worse than hereI was called amazing
And I make folks believe
With nothing in my pockets
And nothing up my sleeve, yeahI am an orphan man but ain't we all?
I can make myself disappear
I am an orphan man but ain't we all?
And I know there's somewhere worse than here
Worse than here, worse than here
