

God Bless Joanna

Tony Christie

When the world is all wrong and I can't get along
Inside me a voice says "You've gotta be strong"
It's the sound of her words, the words of a song
That comfort me
God bless Joanna

When I'm feeling uptight and I can't sleep at night
I don't know how she knows but she turns on the light
I tell her what's wrong and she makes it alright
So tenderly
God bless Joanna

Without Joanna, life would be no easy thing
She melts the winter when my heart's in need of spring
Just the warmth of her smile and the light in her eyes makes the sun shine
How I love her
How I love her

If my time here on earth was suddenly through
And I stood looking back on the world that I knew
And somebody asked "What did life mean to you?"
I'd have to say
"God bless Joanna"

Just the warmth of her smile and the light in her eyes makes the sun shine
How I love her
Oh, how I love her

If my time here on earth was suddenly through
And I stood looking back on the world that I knew
And somebody asked "What did life mean to you?"
I'd have to say
"God bless Joanna"
(I'd have to say)
"God bless Joanna"
