The Truth Is / What Is

Trouble

Children, they grow in a house of love
Filled with hate, but I never cried
Living in dreams that are reality
Can't you see, they are calling for meProblems on their minds just get worse
Everyone is here but I'm all alone
Feelings of depression, adolescent times
Can't you see, there is nowhere to hideI'll never understand why they think we're wrong
Tryin' to change me, tryin' to run my life
Leave me alone, don't want to be like you
Don't want to see like you how can I believe in meClose your eyes, look into your mind
See yourself as you really are, as you really are Don't be lost in your self sorrow
Know the meaning of what you areNo more lies, only you know the truth
No one but you, it has to be you
In our lives, there are changes everyday
Don't run awayJust remember who you are and what you can be
Have faith and your dreams will come true
Sometimes you think that tomorrow will never come
Don't let it get you downLive your life in your own way be what you want
Have faith and your dreams will come true
