Seashell

Scala & Kolacny Brothers

Take my hand and come walk with me down towards the enchanting sea.
I'll run laughing across the sand.
You'll just smile 'cause you understand.Watch the sun kiss the rising sea,
trembling sparkles of ecstasy.
Waves break, simmer, and then renew, just as sometimes a heart can do.I walked the full length of the beach until I found the most beautiful seashell.Fragments of all the things you've said smi_le tenderly in my head.
Beaming sun is still trying to burn the way that I burn for you.Feel the waves as they fall and rise.
Breathe in deeply and close my eyes.
Let me not ever wake from this precious moment of perfect bliss.I walked the full length of the beach until I found the most beautiful seashell.Stay here with me down by the sea.For the others there on that beach ou_r heaven was out of reach.
They heard only the dolphins' cries.
We heard music and angels' sighs.We gazed out to the horizon,
sea and sky melting into one.
Whispered line where the blue meets blue.
Just as vague as where I meet you.In the wake of that golden day mem(o)ries still take my breath away.
I touched heaven when you touched me down beside the enchanting sea.I walked the full length of the beach until I found the most beautiful seashell, for me.Sunset glows.
Come with me.
One last race
to the sea.
