Ellie Goulding

Lonely thoughts they seep, into mind
Into me, pushing deep
Wash the dirt, a hard days work
Know my placeOn my own
No poison in my bones
On my own
This is where I build my homeMy home
This will always be my homeI work until it's late
Walk in and close the gate
I look in the window
And I gaze at my faceEvery line and every abrasion
This took my life to make
This took my life to makeOn my own
No poison in my bones
On my own
This is where I build my home
My homeI need someone to hold
I need someone to holdMy home
This will always be my home
This will always be my home
