

Who We Are

Evans Blue

I lie awake, sound of it all
Will it ever reach me?
As I wander around this hole
Will the burden break me? Have the words been made to take the pain
When truth cannot be safe?
Can the truth remain when everything
Everything's okay? And now the world surrounds us
Will we ever live? And now here we are, going down, down, down
Will we turn this around or fall apart?
And now here we are, looking down, down, down
We can turn this around, it's who we are So I try to break habit and fall
The walls consume me
Rely on having it all
And it all goes through me Have the words been made to take the pain
When truth cannot be safe?
Can the truth remain when everything
Everything's okay? And now the world surrounds us
Will we ever live? And now here we are, going down, down, down
Will we turn this around or fall apart?
And now here we are, looking down, down, down
We can turn this around, it's who we are And all you are you cannot fall
You move the world, you have it all
You cannot fall, you cannot fall Now here we are, going down, down, down
We can turn this around, it's who we are And now here we are, going down, down, down
Will we turn this around or fall apart?
And now here we are, looking down, down, down
We can turn this around, it's who we are?
