You Always Walk Alone

Helloween

When I hold the key to open Heaven's door
I will never make the mistake and give it back
(Back back)

When I hold the key to open my mind before

Before it's too late I will never give it backThere's just one way I see

The way I think it's right for me

You say to me I will repent what I do

If it's right I'll stop beforeWhen I see the light of sun will fade away

And I reveal what I have loved before

It's too late when I can't see the hours I pay

And I reveal what I have loved before There's just one way I see

The way I think it's right for me

You say to me I will repent what I do

If it's right I'll stop before The life I try to give is all I have inside of me

It's one kind of life for me this music you hear

The strength we have inside is so much more than you will know

If you can't see the life around, you'll always walk aloneLook at the drunk man, look into his eyes

See his strong hands but tomorrow they will tremble cold as ice

See the drunk man, try to ask him why

He will laugh and tomorrow he will tell you another lie

There's a fight in his head he cannot win

Getting stronger, makes him mad, burning sin

You, you cannot hide

You cannot describe your feelings insideThe life I try to give is all I have inside of me

It's one kind of life for me this music you hear

The strength we have inside is so much more than you will know

If you can't see the life around you'll always walk alone

Aaah
