

Goodbye

Kevin Cochran

I look for reasons in this
But I see no reason for this
If you thought I was fragile before now honey
You should take a good look at the hole that you dug for me now I don't see significance
In this fucking coincidence
It's a pretty cruel joke, to break what you broke forgive me if I don't seem real amused here This is the eve of our ending
It's the last words I'll be sending
I'll let the memories bury themselves inside my mind
These are the last thoughts that are spoken
The last piece to be broken
I meant what I said, and what I mean is that I'm saying goodbye They'll be no sleep tonight
But there'll be an end tonight
The story of you, the story of me
And that same great story realizing that it's all over The dark dark nights ahead
The ghost of you is dead
Wrap this feelings, bottle them tight
There's no more you to bring me disappointment This is the eve of our ending
It's the last words I'll be sending
I'll let the memories bury themselves inside my mind
These are the last thoughts that are spoken
The last piece to be broken
I meant what I said and what I mean is that I'm saying goodbye

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>