Unexpected Places

Hortense Ellis

Love comes from the most unexpected places
In someone's eyes you've never met, and once they get to know you
In someone's smiles you can't forget and if the music plays on in your mind
Take all the love you can find
And if love takes you in
Take all the love you can find
And it will come again
Love comes from the most unexpected places
The love songs on the radio you never hear enough of
In cars that drive in loneliness, where people save their sorrows, all your time
They take the love they can find
And if love takes them in
They take the love they can find
And it will come again
Love comes in many ways
Loving arms and sweet bouquets
Nothing said, nothing is ever heard
Here I am outside your door
Trying to tell you just once more
Love comes from the most unexpected places
In someone's eyes you've never met, and once they get to know you
In someone's smiles you can't forget, and if the music plays on in your mind
Take all the love you can find
And if love takes you in
Take all the love you can find
And it will come again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/