

Fire in the Sky

Jukebox the Ghost

Launching themselves into space,
they gazed at the wrinkles on god's face,
and he followed them down.
He was surprised by what he found.
Lights and towers that touched the sky.
Submarines and machines that attempted to fly!
He said, "You all look the same from far away
and I really hate to be this way,
but I stick to what I say and something's gonna have to change, today is judgement day!"
