

Cast Away

Liquid Nations

Did you ever imagine that you could be
A captain on a ship, sailing at sea?
Mapping the answers to questions
You have made

Is this what you are, it's a maybe you need
The feeling of freedom, the heavens they speak

Oh, doesn't it feel great?

But you have the right to be wrong

Singing that familiar song

And oh, my beautiful cast away

Oh, my beautiful

You write down the words

The page turns for the worst

You're loving the sound

But it sounds so rehearsed

Singing your anthem to your only friend

Your heart to your brain to your arm to your pen

And oh, my beautiful cast away

Oh, my beautiful

The captain, oh captain

What shall he connect

When you stand on the bow with the wind to your chest

Oh, doesn't it feel right?

But you have the right to be wrong

Singing that familiar song

And oh, the beautiful cast away

Oh, oh, beautiful ...

Ooh, ooh ...

Cause you have the right to be wrong,

Singing that familiar song

And oh, the beautiful cast away

And oh, the beautiful ...

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>