Raindrops

Cheryl Cole

Ooh ooh ooh

You were the tree and I was the apple
And fell to the ground and fell brown
Hate was the wind
But love was the secret that blew us to were we are now
And now love can grow without tiny little raindrops,
Tiny little, tiny little, messy little raindrops

Cry on my shoulder
Cry on my shoulder
For love, love
For love, love
We were told we were told we were larger than life
We were told we were told we were larger than life
For love, love

Floats like the sea
So distant and waving
Bring you closer to me
Stay next to me
For love cant keep waiting
Its got no place left to be
And now love can grow without tiny little raindrops,
Tiny little, tiny little, messy little raindrops

Cry on my shoulder
Cry on my shoulder
For love, love
For love, love
We were told we were told we were larger than life
We were told we were told we were larger than life
For love, love

We were told we were told we were larger than life
We were told we were told we were larger than life
For love, love
For love, love

Love, love

Love, love, love
Love, love
Love, love, love
Love, love, love
