

World

Dubconscious

[Hispanic Woman]

What the world needs is true expression

From the soul and the heart

What the world needs is you and me

What the world needs is the universe and love

Please remain seated

[Slimkid3]

People walk with the eyes of a child

And a smile so innocent and a heart so militant

Brain's got an ill intent so be intense

Some friends at the margin

Making summer streams harden

All these bulls shitting

Trying to milk me by the carton

But, uh, excuse me sir, I begs your pardon

Can't you see how low the hole has gotten?

Apple's completely rotten with the worm in it

Dying, still we're relying on who?

In this case I face the grace

Of my unseen God

Even the taste of what's seemingly odd

Relieving what stress I manifested

From the weight of the world on my chest

Feeling restless, ready to hurt someone

But a hurt that size never eased the eyes

To no one, it's no fun

Selfless shades of living

Got to feel each day that's given

[Chorus 2X: Slimkid3Woman]

Now what the world needs is a love

That's sweeter than the melodies

That makes you go around and round and round

[ImaniCitizen Strange]

In too many situations I'm finding more complications

Than childbirth but this my earth and I'm a

Conscious creature of creation

Here hear with my imagination
Living for my son, dying for my son
Walking into the Sun, each one teach one
And it's love that completes the mission
And adds to everything that you thought was missing
Listen, you got to keep your mind, body and soul in check
In this land of no respect, where it's all about the cheque

I'm looking for a better day
Thinking that there's got to be a better way

Ask Tre,
