

You Caused It All By Telling Lies

Hank Williams

When you're alone and blue tonight my little darlin'
And you're pillows stained with tears from your blue eyes
I'm so sorry dear to say we're not together
But you know you caused it all by telling lies Now I know I'll never find another sweetheart
When you left I hung my head down and I cried
But we quarreled and now we're through my little darlin'
And you know you caused it all by telling lies We were happy, oh so happy little darlin'
And our little home was like a paradise
But today you're all alone and broken hearted
And you know you caused it all by telling lies Now I know I'll never find another sweetheart
When you left I hung my head down and I cried
But we quarreled and now we're through my little darlin'
And you know you caused it all by telling lies

Songwriters

MOODY Published by

Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>