If the Stars Shine

Love-n-Tune

The curtain will rise on a new face tonight. A knock on the door tells me everything's just right. Many will try for fame's fleeting score, but only a few ever walk through that door. If the stars shine for me tonight, and I walk on the stage, and everything's just right. If the house comes down and my song is right; then I'll raise my glass with champagne and ice. And here's to the man who knocked on the door, and here's to the girl who cried out for more. Say a toast to the band who kept the music tight. And here's to the boys who got the stage drops just right. Here is the dream that I want most of all. And my knees are so weak, I just might stumble and fall. My table is set with your bright bouquet. And the croud's turned out for a new Star today, of the stars shine. Oh, here's to the man who knocked o

Lyrics Submitted by Chi-Town Ben

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/